INVITATION

We are pleased to invite you to the 19th European Association of Dental Public Health (EADPH) Conference in Gothenburg, Sweden in June, 2014.

Gothenburg is situated in the heart of Scandinavia, easily accessible from around Europe. Getting around the city is also easy. The meeting venue is centrally located less than a kilometer from hotels, restaurants and entertainment.

With a stunning archipelago on the doorstep we assure you’ll get a whole new meeting experience.

Welcome to Gothenburg in June, 2014.

SCIENTIFIC OBJECTIVES

The European Association of Dental Public Health is an international and independent science-based forum for professionals having a special interest in dental public health and community dentistry.

Dental Public Health is the science and art of preventing oral diseases, promoting oral health, and improving quality of life through the organised efforts of society. This concerns not only actions directed at populations as a whole, but also at groups and individuals who make up populations.

EADPH organises an annual meeting with the aim to provide an opportunity for exchange of information between researchers, practitioners, and policy makers.

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE

12 June   Registration, key note speaker, special interest groups and reception
13 June   Lectures, posters and conference dinner
14 June   Lectures
VENUE
The venue of EADPH 2014 will be at the Wallenberg conference center at the Sahlgrenska Academy, University of Gothenburg, Gothenburg, Sweden. The conference center is located at the campus of the dental and medical sciences institutions. The center is situated close to the downtown area where the central hotels, cultural attractions and shopping are found and is easily and fast accessible by public transport (tram, bus or car), but it is also at a walking distance.

There are two airports, the main being Landvetter airport where the majority of airlines are found. Transportation to and from the airport will be by bus or taxi and takes about 20 minutes to downtown Gothenburg.

MAIN TOPICS
The overall topic of the EADPH 2014 will be Behavioral aspects of oral health, disease and interventions. Selected topics will illuminate a wide range of psychological and behavioral dimensions and treatments related to oral health, diseases and dental care. Main issues concern:

- Oral health promotion – reports from recent large scale interventions.
- Dental anxiety – the Gothenburg model, a 35-year experience.
- Dental anxiety – symptoms, clinical characteristics and consequences.
- Communication in dental care.
- A new dental insurance system in dentistry – choice of payment system and effects on dental care.
- Health care systems – Nordic aspects and experiences.
- Register based research – possibilities and challenges.
- Gerodontology – competence centers and effects on dental care.

ABSTRACTS
Deadline for submission of abstracts is January 15, 2014. Participants should follow the instructions on the EADPH’s homepage while submitting the abstract. Notification of accepted abstract will be within two months.
